

Curriculum Design Guidelines and Persian Materials Development

American Association of Teachers of Persian Round-table at ISIS

Chairs: Pardis Minucheher (UPenn) and Latifeh Hagigi (UCLA)

This Round-table discusses curriculum design guidelines, and materials development standards, for teaching Persian at different levels of instruction. Teachers of Persian will examine the existing guidelines, provide suggestions, and propose ideas for future professional development collaboration. This meeting is a follow-up of the University of Pennsylvania workshops on Professional Curriculum and Materials Development.

Participants: Soheila Amir-Soleimani (University of Utah), Mahvash Shahegh (Johns Hopkins), Fereshteh Amanat-Kowsar (Yale University), Jaleh Pirnazar (University of California, Berkeley), Ramin Sarraf (National University), Azita Mokhtari (National University), Maryam Borjian (CUNY), Haideh Sahim (Hofstra University), Parvaneh Hosseini (University of Arizona), Anousha Shahsavari (University of Texas, Austin).
